ADOPT EUROPEAN PLAN

GLENDALE SANITARIUM CHANGES FROM AMERICAN TO THE EUROPEAN PLAN

The Glendale Sanitarium has introduced an innovation in the operating of institutions of its class. It has changed from the American to the European plan and provided an a la carte menu. It was inaugurated after careful thought and is being tested out as an experiment. If as successful as it now promises to be, the plan will be adopted in all of the four sanitariums maintained by the Adventist Church on this coast.

The change is the outgrowth of a conviction on the part of the management that the patrons should get what they pay for and pay for only what they get, as a matter of justice, and also it is an effort to patriotically live up to the Hoover gospel of the clean plate and the avoidance of waste.

Upon the American plan where a certain price was charged for board, room and service, each patient was entitled to the full bill of fare if he or she chose to order it. As a result curiosity got the better of discretion in many cases, twice as much food was ordered as could be eaten simply because the guest wanted to "try" a great variety of dishes. The surplus went to the garbage can, and though there were groans over the waste, there seemed no way of avoiding it. Under the a la carte plan however, patrons are not tempted to run up big bills for food they can not eat, and the clean plate is the result. The diner pays for what he gets and no more.

The same general rule applies to the services of nurses.

The prices made by the Glendale Sanitarium are very low and correspond with those charged by Los Angeles Cafeterias. Under this new arrangement it is quite probable that citizens of Glendale in the neighborhood will be tempted to get meals there, particularly if inclined to a vegetarian diet, for there they can get novelties in meat substitutes which are not to be had at the ordinary restaurant. Outside local patronage will be welcomed as the management will be glad to have townspeople get better acquainted with their work and the facilities of their institution.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS

At this writing quite a crowd of men is assembled in and around the headquarters on Broadway provided for the examining physicians of the Exemption Board. Not less than fifty men have appeared this morning and the doctors have had their hands more than full. Doctors Boyer and Flint of Glendale, and Dr. Smith of Los Angeles, are doing the work today. Other physicians may be in attendance at the next examination which will take place Wednesday, January 23d. About ten minutes are required to examine each man.

The men who are passed by the physicians have a chance to appeal from the decision of the local board to the Medical Advisory Board. The decision of that tribunal is then referred to the District Board for final action.

Routine work is still occpying Chairman Lanterman and Mrs. Jackson, Chief Clerk, who have no lack of Questionnaires to be reviewed, filed and otherwise attended to.

DINNER FUNCTION

Mr. and Mrs. J. Baum of 109 South Louise street were host and hostess Friday evening at a three course dinned party at which covers were laid for sixteen. Poinsettias featured the decorations at this function which was quite an informal gathering of friends and neighbors, old and young. Following the dinner a gay evening was spent playing "Gossip" and other hilarious games. The guest list included: Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Clark, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cross, Claud Andrew, Mrs. E. Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. Henry, Fred Baum, Catherine Henry, Dorothy Clark. Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Farrow had expected to be of the party but sickness prevented at the last moment.

CLASS PARTY

The last function which the seniors of the Intermediate will hold as a class, viz. the Class Party, came off Friday evening at the Intermediate School chaperoned by Miss Noble, vice principal, other of the teachers and some of the mothers. Under the original plan the class was to have been entertained at the Heacock home, but sickness in the family made a change necessary. The children spent a delightful evening playing games and were then served with light refreshments.

HOME INDUSTRY

DEMAND FOR PRODUCT OF LOCAL MANUFACTURE GROWING AT RAPID RATE

When Messrs. Henry and Brown began the manufacture of Sierra Club Beverages, they took as their motto "The best is none too good."

In living up to that motto they spent a year in experimentation before they secured a product that satisfied them in every respect. They specialize on ginger ale and when they reached the standard they sought, it was just as good as the imported article and then some, which means that it was just a little better. They knew then they had only to get it before the public to secure a big trade, and presently along came the National Creamery & Produce Company, a big distributing concern in Los Angeles which wanted the exclusive distributing rights for Southern California.

Citizens who have traversed Broadway between Brand and Glendale avenue within the past few days have noticed that the windows of this enterprising manufactory have been obscured by a barricade of packing cases stacked along the edge of the sidewalk. These were boxes for the carload of ginger ale which is going to San Diego either today or Monday and which will probably be consumed in part by Glendale soldier boys who are in Camp Kearny.

The plant has been a very busy place the past few days with all hands working at top speed and some of them working nights as well as days to turn out the big order. It is an interesting place to visit because it is a revelation of what can be done by machinery. The company prides itself on the fact, that from first to last, or until the bottles are placed in the packing cases, the process of manufacture is mechanical and therefore strictly sanitary. The bottles to begin with are plunged in a bath of hot water, then they pass through a machine equipped with brushes which scour the inside surfaces, in another machine they are rinsed and carefully inspected. From there they go to the filler which fills and corks the bottles at one operation without being touched by the hand of the operator. Another machine attaches the label and the bottles are then ready to be placed in the cases.

Another important and interesting machine is the water distiller of the latest model and the same sort that the government is using on its battleships, through which all the water used in the manufacture of the Sierra products has to pass to insure its sterilization.

Mr. Henry assured the writer that only the choicest materials enter into the manufacture. Cane sugar alone is used, and the pure fruit juices for the soda compounds. These gentlemen have started out to capture the top notch trade, and they seem to be well on the road to success for their ginger ale has the quality of the foreign product or better and retails for one-third the price. In other words, when you buy imported ginger ale you are paying thirty cents a bottle and two-thirds of that is freight charges. So after all it comes back to the maxim the government is trying to din into our people "Buy at home." We have learned the lesson well in some respects and yet,—Mr. Henry says that but one concern in Glendale is retailing the Sierra Beverages in spite of the fact that all are shouting for home patronage. If all the ginger ale consumed in Glendale were manufactured here, it might increase the product sufficiently to add another man to the working force, which at present numbers seven. The success of every factory means success for Glendale, and this is a product of which any city would have reason to be proud.

KNITTING CHAIN FUNCTIONS.

Mrs. Oliver Clark of 100 South Louise street, was hostess of one of the Knitting Chain parties which are being given for the benefit of the Red Cross. It took place Wednesday afternoon, and was a simple, unpretentious affair attended by the following ladies: Mesdames Emma Winters, Claud Case, H. V. Henry, Alexander Mitchell, Frank England, John Baum, Mrs. Rathburn, Mrs. Southard, Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Hollister and Mrs. Emma Brownfield.

Mrs. R. M. Brown, of 116 North Kenwood, is also a link in the chain and likewise gave a knitting party on Wednesday which was attended by the following guests: Mesdames E. W. Kimmel, F. J. Kuntzner, A. A. Barton, J. M. Ray, Walter Stamps, P. J. Schwab, J. K. Hill, Lee Gillam, and Charles Bartow.

The ladies who have been giving these affairs strive to avoid anything elaborate in the way of refreshments or decorations as being inconsistent with the purpose of the gatherings.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERNE, January 19.—Count Czernin, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, will shortly make a formal reply to President Wilson's outline of Allied war aims. "For our part we will maintain friendly relations and do not want territory nor indemnities," he said.

GARFIELD ORDER HITS CALIFORNIA

MANUFACTURING PLANTS IN WEST WILL BE CLOSED AS PART OF COAL CONSERVATION PLAN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, January 19.—A dozen California plants will be closed by the government as part of the coal conservation plan, it is announced. That California, previously excluded from the Garfield order, will be affected by it is believed by many. Plants manufacturing from white waste paper or rags may burn no fuel as oil, coke, coal or petroleum products. This order was issued today by A. E. Schwabacker, California fuel administrator, and is effective Saturday to Monday noon.

McADOO ADMITS PROGRESS SLOW

STATEMENT TO SENATE COMMITTEE BLAMES WEATHER FOR FAILURE TO STRAIGHTEN OUT FREIGHT TANGLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, January 19.—Director General McAdoo admitted before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee that he was unable thus far to straighten out the freight tangle in the country's railway lines. He blames this slow progress to the unusual weather, which affected even the southern railroads not usually bothered by excessive cold.

THEATRES MAY OPEN MONDAY

FUEL ADMINISTRATION GRANTS AMUSEMENT PLACES RIGHT TO CLOSE TUESDAYS INSTEAD OF MONDAYS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, January 19.—The fuel administration has granted the right to theatres to remain open on Monday and close on Tuesday instead. This indicates that the administration believes it a good thing for employes to attend the theatre on idle days.

VLADIVOSTOK GUARDED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TOKIO, January 19.—The arrival of a Japanese battleship in the port of Vladivostok is announced. The Japanese were received with wild enthusiasm by the foreigners and the better class of Russians who fear the need of protection from the Bolsheviki and the faction opposed to them. No immediate danger is feared. British battleships are also in the harbor looking after Allied interests there.

WONDERFUL VALLEY

EL CENTRO MAN REPORTS THAT BUSINESS IS FLOURISHING IN THE IMPERIAL

Alfred M. Kendall, a former resident of Glendale, but now residing in the Imperial Valley, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Chester Kilgore, of this city. He and his brother have opened a new auto electric business in El Centro where he says there is a great demand for that kind of work and electrical accessories.

He reports that business in all lines is thriving in the valley and that large crops of barley are going in now. An extensive new acreage in the neighborhood of Calipatria and Niland has been made ready for planting and it is expected that big crops of Indian and Kaffir corn and of cotton will be raised.

The government has placed a ban on a very large plantation of melons, which are considered a luxury, and the acreage devoted to those crops will be reduced about two-thirds. He says there is a great shortage of labor and skilled farm hands are getting $100 per month.

Mr. Kendall also referred to the fact that the government has appropriated its proportion of the $50,000 required for a survey for an All-American canal above Laguna Dam, which will be entirely within the confines of the United States. Under the present canal Mexicans have the privilege of using all the water they wish to take from it. The proposed All-American canal would cut off this big drain on the supply. Mr. Kendall says that at the present time the Colorado River is carrying no water to the sea because it is all taken up for irrigation purposes before it reaches the mouth.

POLICE AFFAIRS

A study of the police records shows that Glendale is a very quiet, orderly town. This does not mean that the city has reached a state of perfection and that everybody within its borders is good, but simply that the wrong doing which has claimed the attention of the police has not been of a very serious nature lately.

The principal item reported by Chief Herald was the wanton slashing of tents used by the County Fumigators. These tents cost $75. No clew to the offender has yet been obtained.

Stray dogs, dead dogs and loose horses have also called for attention. Dog poisoners are again disturbing the peace of certain neighborhoods as these poisoning raids are usually due to neighborhood rows over some unpopular canine.

The police have likewise been investigating reports that tramps have been sleeping under the Louise street bridge. It appears that the law strictly prohibits the hobo from sleeping anywhere except in the town lock-up. Taking his rest in any other shelter for which he has not paid the price of a night's lodging constitutes vagrancy. The police, however, have failed to find any of these tourists under the Louise street bridge and think the rumor must be unfounded.

PASS THE GOOD WORD ALONG

The Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross has been asked to pass along the following announcement:

There is great demand for kid waistcoats, both in this country and abroad. Major Murphy, Commissioner to Europe, cables that Chapters should send over as many of these leather waistcoats as they can make. All Chapters should be notified of this demand as soon as possible, and given the following directions:

Soft waste leather of every possible description may be used, such as cast off kid gloves, discarded furniture covers, pieces of book leather, etc.

Leather factories should be asked to donate clippings.

The leather is appliqued with a sewing machine onto a cotton or linenette foundation of some sort, which has previously been cut into the shape of a man's sleeveless waistcoat closing up to the throat. The foundation should then be backed with brown or khaki colored silicia, galatea, or any inexpensive material. The waistcoats are made so that they meet or lap over in front, but without buttons or fasteners of any sort.

When leather from old gloves is used, the gloves should be cleaned and cut open and the leather used in single thickness only.

The waistcoats may be made from as large or as small scraps of leather as desired. It is immaterial what color leather is used, as the leather is worn inside and does not show.

This morning at three o'clock Chas. W. Kent, H. L. Miller, Stanley Frentz and Judge H. M. Miller left for Owensmouth lake to spend a couple of days hunting.

PAVING PRELIMINARIES

WORK OF IMPROVEMENT OF BROADWAY TO BEGIN AT AN EARLY DATE

At the meeting of the City Council Thursday evening a report was turned in of the last of a series of meetings by property owners on Broadway to consider the paving of that thoroughfare, at which a decision was reached to go ahead with the improvement now that the work of opening and widening from Glendale avenue to the city limits, has been completed. These proceedings under which the street has been made a uniform width of eighty feet were begun two years ago.

On receipt of the report the City Attorney was instructed by the Council to prepare a Resolution of Intention that the actual work may begin at an early date. The pavement will be quite similar to that of the balance of the street extending from Central avenue to Glendale, a concrete base with an asphalt wearing surface. It is expected that the work will be completed by midsummer. Conduits will be laid for the ornamental lighting system though it will not be installed until a later date.

The Public Service is about completing the laying of an 8-inch cast iron main from Verdugo Road to Glendale avenue.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

In connection with the consolidation of the school districts of Tropico and Glendale, the question was raised by a citizen as to whether it could not be effected by organizing the combined municipalities as a city of the fifth class.

City Manager Watson was appealed to in the matter. He stated that there was nothing to hinder organization as a fifth class city but that it would take action by the State Legislature, which is not in session, and also it would give the city a less perfect form of government. In explanation he said, "The greater number of our cities are of the sixth class. For that reason laws for the improvement of their governing powers have been constantly amended until it is now an almost ideal form of city government. Very few cities of this class care to make any change until they adopt a charter. For this, and other good reasons, it would be better to bring about consolidation of school districts, if the consolidation is effected in the manner now proposed by circulating petitions to be signed by the heads of families. Thus the real will of the people will be determined. Had Glendale been a city of the fifth class, according to my understanding, municipal consolidation would have automatically consolidated the school districts."

KNOWS FLAG RULES

Jesse E. Smith of the local Ford Agency says he received an anonymous communication recently accusing him of violating the rules governing the use of the American flag.

When war was declared the Ford Agency was among the first in Glendale o display the flag. A white pole tipped with a gold ball was erected over the building and arrangements made to display old glory every day hauling down the flag at sunset in accordance with flag etiquette. The spirit of patriotism has never been lacking around the Ford building. Four of the young men employed there are now in their country's service and Mr. Smith himself has enlisted in the aviation corps and is awaiting action on his application.

Mr. Smith says the flag was thoughtlessly left out one night and regrets that it so happened. However he states that he loves old glory, is perfectly familiar with flag etiquette and is in all probability as patriotic as his unknown critic. He would have received the criticism with better grace in a face to face talk.

OFFICIAL RED TAPE

Glendale citizens have wondered why the elevator which the Glendale Sanitarium is planning to install to convey passengers from the ground floor to the fourth story where the sun parlors are located, is not in place and operation, but the reason is quite simple. The elevator cage and all the connecting equipment are on the ground, the contractor is ready to do the work but the State Accident Commission has not yet acted on the application for a permit filed with it about three months ago. Without the permit the elevator cannot be installed without violation of law. The Commission says it is snowed under with similar applications and this one will have to await its turn. Under the circumstances no one can predict just when the elevator will be in service.

THE SITUATION BEFORE US

The food situation in Europe is far graver than when the preliminary survey of the food supply of the world for this year was made. We have an abundance for ourselves, and it is the firm policy of the Food Administration, by the prevention of exports, to retain for our people an ample supply of every essential foodstuff. The harvests of the Allies have proved less than we had contemplated, and the great curtailment of shipping by the submarine during the last few months has further prevented them from access to more remote markets. Beyond the demands of the Allies there is a call upon us by the friendly neutrals for food supplies, and if we cannot at least in part respond to these neutral calls starvation on an unparalleled scale must ensue.

Food has now taken a dominant position in the war, and we must ask the American people to sacrifice far more than was at first thought necessary. We have exported the whole of the surplus of the wheat from this harvest after reserving to ourselves an amount sufficient for our normal consumption of seed and flour until the next harvest, and therefore the amount of wheat flour that the United States can contribute to mix with the war bread of the Allies during this winter will be simply the amount that our people reduce their consumption month by month. In other words, every grain of wheat or its products that the Allies receive from the United States from now on will be exactly the amount which our people have saved each month on their behalf.

The Allies today ask for 25 per cent more meat and fats (pork, dairy products and vegetable oils) than we consider our monthly production permits us to send them without intrenching on our own supplies, or, on the other hand, unless we can consume less. Due to the shortage in shipping, our available sugar supplies must be less than normal from the present time forward.

Thus every particle of diminished consumption by the American people is one particle more for the soldiers, men, women and children of the Allies and for the starving people in other countries. This is a personal obligation upon every one of us toward some individual abroad who will suffer privation to the extent of our own individual negligence.

If we are to reduce the consumption of the few products which we should export abroad, we will need to eat a larger proportion of many different foodstuffs which we cannot export and which we have at home. For this reason we MUST NOT waste ANY food stuffs. A great many individuals in our population eat far more food than is necessary to maintain their health and strength. In this emergency only the simplest of living is patriotic. We want no person in the United States to eat less than is required for good health and full strength, for in this emergency America requires every atom of the productive power of our people. While many can eat less, all of our population can substitute other foodstuffs for the few that are vitally needed for export.

We must not overlook the fact that Russia collapsed not because of the Germans on her borders, but largely because of the failure to organize and feed her own citizens, and, if we are to emerge victorious from this war, we cannot risk the collapse of another of the Allies from this same cause. There is no waste of food among any of the Allies—there is the most drastic reduction in their consumption; there is actual privation among their women and children; there is starvation in Belgium.

THE SUGAR SITUATION

Existing conditions are world wide in their effect, not in any sense local. Any consideration of the question of available sugar supply must take into account a series of extraordinary factors.

The immediate effect of the declaration of the European war was to cut off from the world's market the sugar of the Central Powers. About one-third of the world's total production formerly came from within the present battlelines of Europe. The Western battlefront passes through the sugar producing territory of France and of Belgium. In consequence, England, France and other foreign countries have competed with the United States for Cuba's cane sugar.

Not only did this cause an advance in the price of raw and refined sugar, but until competition was checked by the recent agreement among the Allies, it resulted in lessening the supply available to the people of this country last fall.

At the same time, an abundance of sugar—hundreds of thousands of tons—has been locked up in far-away Java, owing to the lack of ships to transport it. It is no more available than unmined gold. To provide ships to bring this sugar here—or to Europe—would withdraw them from the more important business of carrying our soldiers and their supplies overseas, as Mr. Hoover has pointed out.

The nation-wide movement to save the fruit crop last season greatly increased the use of sugar. While the quantity in the sugar bowl was for this and other reasons lessened, this sugar is wisely stored as food in preserved fruits, jams and jellies.

"Every jar of fruit preserved adds that much to our insurance of victory, adds that much to hasten the end of this conflict."

Because of the increased demand for sugar, more sugar cane has been planted in Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Louisiana, the chief sources from which the United States gets cane sugar.

The reports from Cuba and Porto Rico make the situation more favorable than a month ago for a supply to meet the sugar needs of all who are dependent on this source—including this country, our soldiers abroad and the Allies.

WAR CHANGGES CURRICULUM IN MANY GIRLS' COLLEGES TO PRACTICAL COURSES

Girls' colleges, which before the war had strictly academic courses of study, with no courses in business or in domestic science, are reorganizing to meet the war emergency. From the reports of deans and presidents in 150 colleges and universities in the United States with women students, it is evident that war emergency courses in business, hygiene, social service in war time, and home economics, is the way in which colleges are exhibiting war preparedness. Usually the war courses are given in the time formerly devoted to recreation; no student is allowed to elect more than one, and no student can be enrolled unless her work is up to the regular standard.

PIGS AND PATRIOTISM

The increasing need for fats and the decreasing pork production both at home and abroad have become alarming.

First, let us consider the need. The food value of pork is very high. In Europe it has long been considered one of the main protein-containing foods. There is more heat and energy in a pound of pork than in a pound of beef. Think what this fat constituent means as a source of strength and energy to those men in the cold, wet trenches fighting for you and for me!

Then a word as to the present supply. The swine herds throughout Europe, including the enemy nations, have decreased very seriously since the war began.

The normal supply to Great Britain from Denmark, Holland and Sweden has practically been cut off so that she now looks to Canada and the United States for all her needs. Everywhere in England the price has risen and the quality deteriorated, many shops having none at all on hand. In fact, there has been talk of requisitioning the civilian's supply entirely for army needs.

And has America and Canada's production advanced to cover this European shortage? On the contrary, there are 4,000,000 less hogs in this country than there were a year ago. There is a shortage of 10 per cent in hog production in the United States. In spite of this the American people ate three and one-half pounds more pork per person last year than was the average annual consumption for the three years before the war.

Now that our own army is in the field, there will be a still heavier drain on our pork supply. This we must meet both by increased production and by economy in our own consumption.

In Canada there has already been systematic saving in this direction. Baconless days in Canadian hotels and public eating places showed a saving of 39 per cent for September and 41 per cent for October over the corresponding months of last year. It was estimated that the monthly saving made in this way would furnish a day's rations for more than half of all the Canadian army.—Whittier News.

The Secretary of Agriculture is notifying all holders of permits for grazing livestock on the National Forests that the payment of any bonus or allowance for waiver of the grazing privilege in connection with sales of livestock or ranch properties will be cause for revocation of the permit.

Owing to the great and ever-growing demand for use of the Forest ranges, which is now in most regions far beyond their capacity, the grazing privilege is of large value. In the view of those in charge of the National Forest grazing business, it would be entirely unfair for the public to forego a maximum return for the value of use of its property and then allow those granted the privilege of use to collect this value from others, as the price of surrendering their privileges. Such a practice would, they say, make competitive disposal by the Government of the grazing the only logical course.

As Secretary Houston says in warning the range users that the payment of bonuses or the giving of any consideration to secure the filing of a waiver of the grazing privilege is prohibited, "such a payment would be a consideration for a privilege the granting of which is wholly within the discretion of the Government and for which no one is entitled to receive compensation." Therefore any such payment will be "sufficient cause for the revocation of permit or forfeiture of all grazing preferences based upon the purchase of permitted stock."

The service flag will be dedicated at the West Glendale Methodist Church next Sunday evening at 7:30.

Mrs. A. P. Offutt has gone by auto to Bakersfield where she will spend the week end with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Stofft of North Pacific avenue, will go to Alhambra this evening to spend the week end.

Mrs. H. V. Henry of 1427 Patterson avenue, will be hostess at one of the Red Cross Knitting Chain parties next Thursday afternoon. It will be an invitation affair, but each guest will pay a fee of 25 cents which will go to the treasury of the Red Cross.

An interesting and profitable meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Congregational Church was held Thursday afternoon in the Primary room of the chuch. Miss Newton, a speaker from the Bureau of the Los Angeles Red Cross Chapter addressed the gathering on Women's War Work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salmacia who were married on New Year's Day at the Holy Family Catholic Church, are housekeeping at 228 North Maryland. They are very active members of the Glendale Music Company which was doing such a heavy business when the marriage took place that they were not able to get away for a wedding trip.

The Eqworth League supper given at the First Methodist Church of Glendale Friday evening was a very social affair enjoyed by about fifty young people. The evening following the supper was spent with music, games and other social diversions. It is a monthly event and one to which the young people of the church look forward.

Mrs. H. Lee Clotworthy returned a few days ago from a week's visit in San Diego whither she went by auto with the Misses Jones, teachers in the San Diego High School, who had been her guests during the holidays. She reports a delightful outing in the course of which she visited Coronado, the quarantine station, and other points of interest.

Mary Smith Cable has moved her studio from Butler's hall to Room 20 in the Cole & Damerell Bldg. Mrs. Cable is busy with war work during the week and Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 12 is the only time she has for her Glendale class. She has room for five more private pupils. Charges are $1 for half hour and $1.50 for hour lessons. Arrangements can be made evenings by phoning Mrs. Cable, Home Los Angeles 24959. 117tt6

Mrs. Garland of Chicago, who has been in Glendale the past month with her sister, Mrs. Paonessa on North Louise street, has received a kodak picture showing the extent of the recent blizzards in the east. The picure was taken in front of the residence of her sister and showed a small path through Calumet avenue with towering walls of snow on both sides. Calumet avenue was closed to all traffic for the first time in its history.

Lieutenant Frederic H. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Nichols of 223 South Adams street, has been transferred to another battalion. All of his company (including his dog) who had not been sent to the Atlantic Coast, were transferred to Linda Vista, but he is still held at Camp Lewis and has been changed to the Eighth Battalion of the 166th Depot Brigade. The men were so fond of the dog it would be a hardship to go without it, so he allowed his pet to accompany them to San Diego.

FOR IOWA FRIENDS

Mrs. V. M. Hollister of 200 North Louise street, was hostess at a pretty mid-day luncheon given Friday for a party of old friends from Mason City, Iowa. It was quite informal but none the less delightful to all who participated, the guest list including: Mrs. Hanford and daughter Georgia, Mrs. Phoebe Ara White, Mrs. H. J. Smith and daughter, Lou, Mrs. J. K. Hill and Mrs. R. M. Brown. Violets were effectively used in the decoration of the table

MRS. IDA VOSE WOODBURY

Members of the Congregational church and their friends are looking forwards to Tuesday evening when Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury, a very talented and famous woman is to give her address on Lincoln. Mrs. Woodbury is to be in Southern California only two weeks and Glendale is to be congratulated on securing her for this famous address. All who love the memory of the great and good Lincoln should hear her.

TOWARD DEMOCRACY CLUB

1330 Colorado Boulevard. Sunday 10 a. m. program. Discussion of International Democracy led by Dr. C. A. Webb. Address by Edgcumb Pinchon on "An Example of Industrial Democracy."

All will be cordially welcomed.

CHAPTER BA, P. E. O.

The members of Chapter BA, P. E. O. were entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. H. H. Parker, with Mrs. C. B. Wilde, assisting hostess.

Mrs. Marion Garvin, State President of P. E. O., was an honored guest, and gave an interesting talk on the activities of the organization in the Red Cross work, also on the Supreme Convention which met in Omaha, Nebraska, in October.

Mrs. Albert Read of Chapter AT of Los Angeles, was also a guest. A delicious two course luncheon was served, followed by the program. An amusing debate, Resolved, "that good temper and bad housekeeping are preferable to bad temper and good housekeeping," the judges deciding it was a tie. Affirmative, Mrs. Walter Stamps, Mrs. Claude Case; negative, Mrs. Archie Parker, Mrs. A. L. Weaver.

The meeting of the Central Avenue P.-T. A. which was held last Thursday afternoon, was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charles Lehman, at three o'clock.

Superintendent Richardson D. White was the speaker of the afternoon and gave a thought inspiring talk on "The Schools and the War." One point which he made was that the war will teach our children efficiency. Another thing which he believes it will bring about will be the operation of our schools on a more economical basis. The war is also teaching children to save, which he considers to be a most valuable lesson.

He urged that children be made to realize that the American government is a democratic government and that they be instructed in democratic ideals.

A beautiful piano selections was contributed by Lois Armstead, and after the formal business had been transacted, the meeting adjourned.

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY

The party for seniors, teachers and parents given at the High School Friday night was a great social success. The refreshments served by the Refreshment Committee of which Mrs. Harry Greenwalt was chairman, were delicious and the lively games in which old and young participated melted all formality.

This was but one of similar functions which have been given in the past and which are scheduled for the future as get-together affairs to make teachers, parents and students better acquainted. It is a very important part of P.-T. A. work which the president, Mrs. Ben Nichols and her associates in office intend to foster.

LUNCHEON PARTY

Mrs. A. L. Weaver, 235 South Kenwood street, entertained on Tuesday with an informal cafeteria luncheon. Violets were the favors for the guests. Pink carnations were the house decoration. The two course luncheon was followed by an afternoon busily spent in knitting. Guests present were Mesdames. W. E. Evans, E. F. Tholen, Warren Roberts, Mattison B. Jones, H. P. Goodwin, H. R. Boyer, H. T. Lockwood, Albert Pearce, John Hunchberger, A. W. Tower, Laurence Ellis, Walter Stamps, H. D. Goss, and Mrs. Lucius Philipps of Los Angeles.

BRINGS RESULTS

Mrs. E. J. Young of Casa Verdugo, well known as a breeder of fancy poultry and canaries, has added her testimony to the efficiency of the advertising columns of the Evening News in securing customers.

She recently advised the public through a classified ad that she had three turkey hens to dispose of. They were sold the same day. The German warblers she has been advertising have also gone to customers who have responded to her invitation to inspect her stock and she now has only two singers left.

EXEMPT

Are you one who claimed exemption when your country called for you,
Because you had dependents and you thought it was their due
To have your sole support and labor, letting others go to fight
Who had none depending on them, in this battle for the right?

It is surely right and proper if you are the one above,
To let others do the fighting, and to give to those you love
The protection of your earnings and to guard them well who need
Food and shelter and protection 'gainst the wolves of cold and greed.

But have you done your duty if you are at home today,
By insuring this protection if you should be called away?
If your income should be taken from them by "the old man with the scythe"
What about the situation of the helpless who survive?

RED CROSS NOTES

This morning a big packing case was received at Red Cross headquarters from San Francisco which brought joy to the Sewing Department, which is in charge of Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, because on being opened it was found to contain yards and yards and yards of flannel for hospital garments for which the department has been looking for some time. But joy to that department meant gloom to the knitters, for it contained no yarn. It is hoped, however, that the balance of the San Francisco consignment will come along without delay and that it will arrive in time for the promised distribution of yarn on Monday.

Saturday is an off day at Red Cross headquarters and this afternoon the carpenters who are still making shelves, tables and other equipment for the various departments, will have things their own way and can work without interruption.

The first response to the call for furnishings for the Red Cross reception room has come in the shape of a table. It is very acceptable and the officials hope it will be followed by chairs and other needed equipment.

At this writing Mrs. Jack Boettner is busy as a bee serving hot lunches at the Red Cross Store, 318 Brand boulevard. When she gets to the place where she can do it, she is planning to take a horse and wagon and make a personal visitation from house to house in behalf of her department and the Red Cross Store to the end that everybody may know just what is being done at that center of activity and lend a hand or better still give much needed supplies to carry on the work.

More members of the surgical dressings department are wanted, particularly in the Friday class. The need for these dressings is probably more urgent than any work which the Chapter is doing, and the chairman and other officials are hoping that a large number of women will volunteer for this patriotic service.

Who can lend a sewing machine or two? Machines are much in demand now that materials for hospital garments have arrived.

PROF. GAYLEY'S ADDRESS

Professor Charles Mills Gayley, head of the English department of the University of California, delivered the University Extension Lecture last night in the auditorium of the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School before a large audience of Los Angeles and suburban town people, Glendale and Tropico having their share of the representative audience. The subject was "The Foundations of American Liberty."

Professor Gayley was at his best, again and again being stopped by ringing applause at his patriotic remarks. Twice he suggested that his hearers had enough but they were determined to get all he would give them. The whole hour and a half was an intellectual feast.

Our American Revolution was the political child of Magna Charta and of the two English Revolutions of 1642 and 1698. The friends of Shakespeare were the friends of freedom. The Earl of Southampton and Sir Edwin Sandys, intimates of Shakespeare, helped inspire the free charters of Virginia and Massachusetts. Brooke, a leader of the liberal party in James I. reign was Shakespeare's lawyer. Sir Edwin Sandys was a pupil of the famous Richard Hooker, author of "Ecclesiastical Polity," a work that inspired John Locke, the great British philosopher. In fact, Prof. Gayley revealed that phrase after phrase that rings in our Declaration of Independence comes directly out of Hooker's "Polity," written in 1594 in Elizabeth's time. Washington, Jefferson, and Adams learned their lessons of liberty from British forbears, not from France. Indeed the French philosophers and revolutionary thinkers confess to their debt to English liberal lights. France was a despotism in 1776 and until Lafayette carried our Declaration of Independence back to France for use in 1789. Our fight in 1776 was not against British liberalism which sympathized with us but with the sinister forces centering in the German George the Third.

In democracy we owe Prussia nothing. A German jurist has (before the war) stated that the Anglo-Saxon is the only race that has fully developed the idea of due process of law—of civil liberty.

All this is shown in a new book of Prof. Gayley, "Shakespeare and the Founders of Liberty in America."

That England, France and America should be shoulder to shoulder in the trenches facing German agression is the most logical thing in the world. The lying, inhuman, brutal, policy of the German government came in for a burning indictment that stirred the audience. The Bolsheviki, the I.W.W., the Pacifists, all received attention. Cries of "Peace, peace!" when there is no peace should fall on deaf ears. Prussianism must be conquered. The speaker thanked God that the scales had fallen from our national eyes, that our conscience is alive, that we are serving humanity—that we are walking "with our faces to the light."

ADAM & EVE PRUSSIANS

The following letter was written by a German girl to a school friend in Switzerland. It illustrates the manner in which German children have been taught to believe that Prussia is destined to rule the world. This letter was published in the Congressional Record:

"Frankfort-on-Ober, July 20, 1916. My Dear Louise: The contents of your last letter would have hurt me had I not known that your thoughts of our glorious war resulted from sheer ignorance.

"You are in a country rendered effeminate by the influence of old-fashioned ideas of liberty, a country which is a least two centuries behind ours. You are in need of a good dose of Prussian culture.

"It is evident that you, a Swiss girl, with your French sympathies, cannot understand how my heart, passionately desired this war. Speaking of it some years ago, my father said to us: 'Children, Germany is getting too small for us; we shall have to go to France again in order to find more room.' Is it our fault if France will not understand that more money and land are necessary for us?

"And you reproach us that our soldiers have been very cruel to the Belgian rabble, and you speak also of the destruction of Rheims, and of the burning of villages and towns. Well, that is war. As in every other undertaking, we are past masters in the making of war.

"You have a great deal to learn before you can come up to our standard, and I can assure you that what has been done so far is a mere bagatelle compared with what will follow.

"As a matter of fact, there is but one race worthy of ruling the world, and which has already attained the highest degree of civilization. That race is ours, the Prussians; for though we Germans in general are the lords of the world, the Prussian is undoubtedly the lord par excellence among the Germans.

"All other nations, and among them, unfortunately, the Swiss, are degenerate and of inferior worth. That is why I have always been so proud of being a true Prussian.

"Yesterday, again, our pastor explained to me convincingly that our first parents, Adam and Eve, were also Prussians. That is quite easy to understand, because the Bible tells us that the German God created us all after his own image. If, then, all men are descended from Adam and his wife, it follows that only Prussians, or at least Germans, ought to exist in the world, and that all who push on and prosper ought to belong to us. Germany above everything.

"You know why we wished the war. Is it not shameful that other nations, who have no right to existence on the earth, wish to diminish our heritage? We are the divine fruit and the others are only weeds. That is why our great emperor has decided to put an end to all these injustices and to extirpate the weeds. Do you understand that now? I remain your school friend.—Katie Hamel."

NEW SITUATION IN GERMANY

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Infection of the Russian spirit of democracy is beginning to manifest itself in Germany. For the first time since the outbreak of the war, German socialists are developing the lost spirit of internationalism, in their attitude toward the Socialists of Russia.

The new situation that is thus arising in Germany, is extremely serious for the Kaiser. The patriotic control Kaiserism, hitherto has exercised over the German Socialists is beginning to break. When it vanishes completely, Kaiserism will disappear. Interference with the German-Russian peace negotiations by the German Socialists became apparent as soon as the Kaiser's representatives started to inject imperialistic aims into the proceedings. This was the first refusal to heed the appeals to patriotism that the Teutonic socialists have displayed since the beginning of the conflict.

The present movement must receive further impetus before there is an open estrangement between the Hohenzollerns and the German people, but the primary impulse has been given. The Kaiser cannot afford to risk much more domestic criticism of his way of making peace. Autocracy has always feared a revolution in a neighboring country next to a revolution at home.

German socialists cannot help being sympathetically inclined toward Russia's freedom to experiment with ultrademocratic doctrines. The sympathy is becoming more and more obvious, and more and more disconcerting to Kaiserism. The threats of the Russian Bolsheviki that they intend appealing to the German people to make a democratic peace over the heads of the Kaiser's statesmen, may turn out to be no idle boast. Certainly the Kaiser dare not scoff at the possibility.

The German government has never before been faced with an internal situation as serious as this. Or is not probable that the Socialists and the militarists of Germany will permit a dispute among themselves to reach the stage of open revolution. But, the Socialists, because of their number, have the upper hand. They can compel acceptance of their views if they are sufficiently insistent. How strongly they will exercise their power for a democratic peace now depends more on the influence of the Russian revolution than on any other single cause.

FOREST SERVICE PROTECTION

That the Forest Service furnishes protection from fire to hundreds of thousands of acres within or near the National Forests belonging to private individuals and organizations, was called attention to in a report made public today by the Acting District Forester. During 1917 fire protection was furnished approximately 275 owners of private lands by the Forest Service in California. This protection is not given gratis, since the Forest Service has no authority to fight fire on privately owned lands except where failure to do so would seriously threaten adjoining public property, but was furnished the land owners at a price based upon the cost to the Government of protecting National Forest lands of the same general character and condition of hazard.

Land owners cooperating with the Government in fire protection are of all classes ranging from the homesteader with a few acres to the owner of large tracts of timber, and municipalities or organizations owning large areas of valuable brush watershed. The sum paid the Government by private owners of lands for this protection last year amounted to $25,000 in round numbers. More than four thousand dollars of this was from land owners for the first time cooperating with the Forest Service in fire protection.

OLD TIME MUSH NOW A LUXURY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Mush is becoming the great American extravagance. The good old cornmeal variety is becoming so popular in the households that its price is going up along with everything else.

Corn was one of Food Administrator Hoover's recommendations for the American table when he looked out on a world shortage of wheat. As a result the busy housewife following the appeal has been putting corn into everything and mush has become a luxury instead of a laugh as in years gone by.

HAPPENINGS IN STATE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 19.—Bequests totaling $50,000 are left to nephews and nieces residing in Germany in the will of Ludwig Mebius, pioneer wholesale grocer of Sacramento, who died recently. These relatives will not receive their bequests, however, until after the war, as no money is permitted to enter Germany from America.

It is probable that the money will be placed in a fund and Liberty Bonds purchased with it, as has been done in several large estates. Mebius came to America when a child and was intensely American.

Harry Mebius, a nephew residing in San Diego, is one of the heirs who will receive an equal share of the $200,000 estate.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 19.—The state civil service committion has announced the dates on which examinations for clerks, typists and stenographers will be held during the year. These examinations are held to create eligible lists from which to make appointments to state positions.

Chief Clerk (men and women) February 16, April 13, July 13, and October 12.

General clerk (man and woman) March 2, April 20, July 20, and October 19.

Stenographer and typist (men and women) February 23, April 6, June 8, August 3, October 5 and December 7.

Applications for examinations must be filed in Sacramento at least seven days prior to the dates announced for the respective tests.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Marriage figures for the year 1917 show that Mars and Dan Cupid are allies, according to George D. Leslie, director of the state bureau of registration. According to the reports of county recorders to Leslie, the year of America's entry into the war was a big one for weddings.

Increases in marriages was greatest in cities located near army or navy camps. Marriages of soldiers at Camp Kearny jumped San Diego county from fifth place in 1916 to fourth place in 1917. For San Mateo county where Camp Fremont is located, the marriage total rose from 326 in 1916 to 505 in 1917.

The apparent increase of 765 marriages in San Francisco represents a real gain of between 1300 and 1400 for the year, as the number of Japanese weddings at San Francisco dropped from 608 in 1916 to 40 in 1917 on account of the new rules for the admission of Japanese picture brides without need of their being married American style.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Charles G. Johnson, state sealer of weights and measures, has fixed 128 cubic feet as the standard measurement of a cord of wood, and he warns the public against buying wood by any other measurement.

Johnson says that peddlers, venders and unreliable wood dealers offer wood by the load or by the rick or tier, which, he declares, are meaningless terms and greatly facilitate fraud.

SUNDAY'S PUNCHES

Billy Sunday believes in a religion which includes punching the enemies of the United States in its fight for democracy. He said so a few nights ago to a crowd which filled Medinah Temple.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the National Security league, which invited the evangelist to come to Chicago from his home in Winona Lake, Indiana.

Some of the things Mr. Sunday said in his address were:

"Sympathy is one of the loveliest of the virtues, but all the sympathy in the world won't win this war.

"Farmers must plow, plant and reap, but soldiers must do the fighting.

"Since congress has declared war the fellow who stands off is a traitor.

"Every dollar loaned Uncle Sam helps to make a piker out of Kaiser Bill.

"We are a united people and we will give that hot dog crowd a run

"Germany will find one spirit opposed to her, that of the undying, unyielding, unforgetting United States.

"The kaiser says he and God are partners. He has the devil outclassed. When it comes to lying, in comparison with the kaiser Ananias is a Sunday school superintendent.

"The Prussian eagle has become a buzzard.

"The kaiser intended to eat Christmas dinner in Paris in 1914. He will be lucky if he eats another Christmas dinner in Berlin."—Chicago Tribune.

THE BEAN CROP

California's 1917 bean crop breaks all records, according to H. Clay Miller, a local member of the United States food administration. Beans are so abundant here, and the crop increase in other parts of the country is so considerable, according to Mr. Miller, that prices ought to go down to ante-war levels.

California alone raises for market this year at least 8,000,000 bushels of lima, white, pink and Mexican beans. This total is at least 25 per cent greater than last year's output. Every county in the state raised beans, and a great increase in acreage helped to push up the total. The principal bean-growing districts are Ventura, San Luis Obispo, San Joaquin, Sacramento and Colusa counties. About 5 per cent of the crop still remains to be harvested.
